

User meeting about shared use computers on March 24

We will hold a user meeting about shared use computers (HOKUSAI BigWaterfall/SailingShip) and its beneficiary pays.

Supercomputer HOKUSAI GreatWave is scheduled to cease operation at the end of March 2020 and supercomputer HOKUSAI BigWaterfall will continue to operate. Data Science Infrastructure HOKUSAI SailingShip has ended the bid opening, and will start test operation from around June 2020 and regular operation from October 2020.

In addition, beneficiary pays will be charged for the shared use computer from October 2020. We will explain about user fee table as it has been established.

Date: March 24

Time: From 10 a.m. to 12 a.m.

Place: Large meeting room in 2F of Welfare and Conference Building WAKO

Language: Japanese

Registration is not needed.

To prevent infection and the spread of the novel coronavirus, the video conferences using Webex will be the main method. You can connect to the video conference from PC or polycom. Contact hpc@riken.jp for the connection destination and connection method.

If it is difficult to participate the video conference, please come to the place.

The handout in English will be released before the meeting. The questions and answers at the meeting will be released later.

Contents

1. Outline of Data Science Infrastructure
2. Current plans for shared use computers and beneficiary pays after the next fiscal year

Handouts

1. Outline of Data Science Infrastructure
2. Current plans for shared use computers and beneficiary pays